

March 23, 2020

Update from NASBA/CPAES

Effective today, Nashville is under the Safer at Home order which means no one is allowed in the NASBA office for the next 14 days. The majority of our employees have the ability to work from home and will continue to do so.

At this time, we are unable to answer phones remotely, but are exploring our options. In the meantime, our phone announcements and website advise candidates to contact us via email.

Examination candidates can be directed to CPAEXAM@NASBA.ORG. We also encourage them to follow us on social media for the latest news.

We are continuing to accept applications and evaluate credentials during this time.

Patricia Hartman | Director of Client Services

The logo for the National Board of Accountancy (NASBA) is displayed in a green, serif font. The letters are bold and closely spaced, with the 'N' and 'A' being particularly prominent.